Competition imposes heavy demands on us as aircraft handlers. Services have to get faster and cheaper while the standards continually increase. As aircraft handlers we have already compromised – and had to compromise – in many regards.

When it comes to safety, we are no longer willing to make compromises!

That is the reason behind our demand that mandatory minimum standards be defined for the training of aircraft handlers in Europe.

We are not raising this demand on our own behalf, but rather in the spirit of our responsibility for ensuring that you have a right to an aircraft handling process that is safe and secure from beginning to end!

Support our initiative and make "Flight Safety" an initiative in which we all share.
